

Sicily

Back home. Back to the long, windy and wet cycle to the office and sadly just about back to realising when I get out of bed there won't be an incredible buffet breakfast (including a variety of cakes) waiting for me to enjoy as I look out over the Mediterranean. That's a painful realization to come to terms with!

Sicily was amazing. Possibly the friendliest people I've ever encountered plus beautiful scenery and food... 7 days really wasn't enough.

The plan was not to have any plan for the first half of the week. We rented a classic Fiat 500 (nicknamed 'Disco Dolly') and just drove not knowing where we'd be staying or what we'd see. The second part of the holiday was going to be somewhat more relaxing, based in Taormina at a nice hotel overlooking the bay.

If you're interested in renting a classic Fiat 500 we used these guys. Just know that if you get Dolly she'll never love you as much as she loved us! €560 for the car for a week with pick-up and drop-off at the airport.

A week of great scenery, driving roads, food and drink spent in truly excellent company. Can't wait for the next trip!
